Northern Municipal Regional Communications Center

May 9, 2011 -- On Tuesday, May 3, 2011, the Jupiter Police Department transitioned to regional communications with the Palm Beach Gardens Police Department and Juno Beach Police Department. Our Communications Division is now within the new Northern Municipal Regional Communications Center, located in Palm Beach Gardens, where our partnership will provide a means for regional intersystem collaboration while maintaining separate operations for each participating department. This means improved police response, officer safety and allows the municipalities to save money by sharing people and equipment.

During the transition on May 3, 2011, our citizens had no disruption in service when calling into the Jupiter Police Department. The implementation team, overseeing the work, has tested the regional services components to ensure current quality of operations. Citizens can still contact the Jupiter Police Department at (561) 746-6201 for non-emergency incidents and 9-1-1 for all emergency incidents. These calls are now being routed directly to the new Northern Municipal Regional Communications Center.

We look forward to providing our services to our citizens at a higher level in all areas.
