Methods

Selecting Survey Recipients

All households within the Town of Jupiter were eligible to participate in the survey. A list of all households within the zip codes serving Jupiter was purchased from Polco's mailing vendor, based on updated listings from the United States Postal Service.

Since some of the zip codes that serve Jupiter households may also serve addresses that lie outside of the community, the exact geographic location of each housing unit was compared to community boundaries using the most current municipal boundary file. Addresses located outside of Jupiter boundaries were removed from the list of potential households to survey. Each address identified as being within Town boundaries was further identified as being within one of four subareas. From that list, addresses were randomly selected as survey recipients, with multi-family housing units sampled at a rate of 5:3 compared to single family housing units.

Conducting the Random Sample Survey

The 3,000 randomly selected households received mailings beginning on October 17, 2025 and data collection for the survey remained open for eight weeks. The first mailing was a postcard inviting the household to participate in the survey online. The next mailing contained a cover letter with instructions, the survey questionnaire, and a postage-paid return envelope. The final mailing was a reminder postcard giving the household one last opportunity to participate in the survey. All mailings included a web link to give residents the opportunity to respond to the survey online, as well as QR codes to further encourage participation. The survey invitations also included a unique passcode, ensuring that every household had only a single opportunity to participate.

About 11% of the 3,000 mailed invitations were returned because the household address was vacant or the postal service was unable to deliver the survey as addressed. Of the remaining 2,681 households that received the invitations to participate, 368 completed the survey, providing an overall response rate of 14%. The response rate was calculated using AAPOR's response rate #2 for mailed surveys of unnamed persons.¹

It is customary to describe the precision of estimates by a "level of confidence" and accompanying "confidence interval" (or margin of error). A traditional level of confidence, and the one used here, is 95%. The 95% confidence interval quantifies the sampling error or imprecision of the survey results based on the total number of responses received. This is because some residents' opinions are relied on to estimate all residents' opinions. The margin of error for the Town of Jupiter survey is no greater than plus or minus 5.1 percentage points around any given percent reported for all respondents (368 completed surveys).

Conducting the Open Participation Survey

In addition to the randomly selected "probability sample" of households, a link to an online open-participation survey was publicized by the Town of Jupiter. The open-participation survey was identical to the random sample survey, with two small updates; it asked a question to confirm the respondent was a resident of Jupiter and also a question about where they heard about the survey.

The open-participation survey was open to all town residents and became available on November 14. The survey remained open for four weeks and 79 responses were received. The data presented in the following report excludes the open participation survey data, but the online report includes a tab which provides the complete open participation results.

Analyzing the Data

Responses from mailed surveys were entered into an electronic dataset using a “key and verify” method, where all responses are entered twice and compared to each other. Any discrepancies were resolved in comparison to the original survey form. Range checks as well as other forms of quality control were also performed. Responses from surveys completed on Polco were downloaded and merged with the mailed survey responses.

The survey datasets were analyzed using all or some of a combination of the Statistical Package for the Social Sciences (SPSS), R, Python, and Tableau.

The demographics of the survey respondents were compared to those found in the 2020 Census and 2023 American Community Survey estimates for adults in the Town of Jupiter. The primary objective of weighting survey data is to make the survey respondents reflective of the larger population of the community. The characteristics used for weighting were age, sex, race, Hispanic origin, housing type, housing tenure, and area. No adjustments were made for design effects. Weights were calculated using an iterative, multiplicative raking model known as the ANES Weighting Algorithm.² The results of the weighting scheme for the probability sample are presented in the following table.

Polco aligns demographic labels with those used by the U.S. Census for reporting purposes, when possible. Some categories (age, race/Hispanic origin, housing type, and length of residency) are combined into smaller subgroups.

Study Limitations

All public opinion research is subject to unmeasured error. While the methodologies employed for this survey were designed to minimize this error as much as possible, these other sources of potential error should be acknowledged, and can include non-response error, coverage error, recall bias and social desirability bias.

Non-response error arises when those who were selected to participate in the survey did not do so, and may have different opinions or experiences than survey responders. For general resident surveys, where the results are meant to be generalized to the entire adult population living in households, the mailing lists based on the Delivery Sequence File from the United States Post Office may exclude certain types of housing units, such as those in multi-family buildings where mail is addressed to a named resident at the address rather than to a specific unit or where residents only receive their mail at a post office box and the geographic location of a residence cannot be determined, there may be a coverage error, although for most locations, this is minimal. Respondents may not perfectly remember their experiences in the past year (such as participation in social or civic events, for example), and for some survey items, they may answer in ways they think cast their responses in a more favorable light (recall bias and social desirability bias).

National Benchmarks

This table contains the comparisons of Jupiter's results to those from other communities. The first column shows Jupiter's rating compared to the benchmark: results are noted as "higher" or "lower" if the average rating given by Jupiter residents is at least 10 points above or below the benchmark, and "similar" if it is within 10 points. The second column shows Jupiter's "percent positive", which is the combination of the most positive response options (e.g., excellent/good). The third column shows Jupiter's ranking in comparison to other communities where a similar question was asked, and the fourth column shows the number of communities that asked that question. The fifth column shows the percentile for Jupiter's result (the percent of communities that had a lower rating).

Custom Benchmarks

This table contains the comparisons of Jupiter's results to those from other Florida communities who have completed a community-wide survey in the last 5 years. The first column shows Jupiter's rating compared to the benchmark: results are noted as "higher" or "lower" if the average rating given by Jupiter residents is at least 10 points above or below the benchmark, and "similar" if it is within 10 points. The second column shows Jupiter's "percent positive", which is the combination of the most positive response options (e.g., excellent/good). The third column shows Jupiter's ranking in comparison to other communities where a similar question was asked, and the fourth column shows the number of communities that asked that question. The fifth column shows the percentile for Jupiter's result (the percent of communities that had a lower rating).
