THE LOXAHATCHEE LAMENT is a collection of some of the recollections of Jupiter's Pioneers dating back to the early 1800's. The collection originally appeared as articles in The Jupiter Courier as a series to save the Loxahatchee River. The content, written during the early 1970's, soon broadened to include reminiscences of those living in the Jupiter area. It is a treasure trove of our past told by those who lived it. The Town of Jupiter has reprinted this book and copies are for sale to the public. Cost of this 350+ page, hard bound volume is $15. For your copy, stop
